

JAH Bio

Jeffrey Alan Henderson founded AndThem after a degree in engineering from Georgia Tech and 15 years in Nike Design - Sportswear, Running, Basketball, Kids and the Tokyo Design Studio. AndThem was an opportunity to build on creative problem solving beyond footwear design while providing experiences to a broader group of talented designers.

From AndThem both NinetyNine Products and Good Things were born - a brand focused on celebrating people and a nonprofit focused on the future of work.

With a strong passion for sport, fashion, education and engineering, Jeffrey has been able to stay curious with board positions at Knoll and the Business of Sports School.
